A man for all seasons. A man for all reasons. Father, Teacher, Brother, Scholar, Counselor, Friend. Dean Lynch was the exemplar of the all around educator. Concern for students was always uppermost in his thoughts. He ruled over the area of student services with an iron hand and a compassionate heart. He was both loved and feared, but mostly respected. It is with great pride and gratitude that we, the Senior Class of 1972, dedicate our book of College memories to a great friend and teacher, Dean Edward L. Lynch, Jr.

A NEW LEADER
FOR GRAHM

Dr. Arthur M. Griffin, President

On behalf of all the people who had a role to play in your educational experience at Graham, I say we wish you success, enjoyment and fulfillment. You have had the opportunity to add to and sharpen your knowledge and skills and you are now ready to face the opportunities and challenges of adult life.

Dream the impossible dreams — strive to attain them with honesty and integrity. Live full — give full and may we remain in some small way a part of you.

It has been quite difficult for one who is so intimately involved and responsible on a daily basis with finance, accounting figures and reports, to prepare a personal message for the Year Book which should offer to our graduates some words of adult wisdom and experience. Many of you will soon enter the business world and may eventually have management responsibility. If you will remember that firms are made up of individuals and that each individual may have something to offer in his own way — if you will try not only to be profit-oriented, but people-oriented and weigh your management decisions with sympathy, not cynicism; with kindness, not anger; with firm, but fair judgment and with an attitude of how you yourself would like to be treated, you will gain something that will not reflect on a Corporate Profit and Loss Statement — but it will be quite an asset on your personal Balance Sheet.

Harry LeCours Jr.
Vice President-Treasurer

In these days of unsettled world conditions and of perplexing national situations, you, the class of 1972, face challenges which will test your preparation for the future in innumerable ways and on countless occasions. Your ability to cope with and solve these problems which lie within your personal range of interest and activity will truly measure the effectiveness of your education.

Plot your future course with one eye on the objectives and goals you have set for yourself and with the other eye wide open for pitfalls and stumbling blocks which will occur when you least expect them. Beware of being diverted to follow a rainbow with only a hope of a golden reward at its end; for it is far more worthwhile to pursue a well-thought-out objective, in spite of its temporary periods of sadness and happiness, to successfully reach your ultimate goal.

Above all, believe in yourself! Remember that occupations do not have futures — people do! With a strong measure of self confidence, life's frustrations are more easily overcome and success in your chosen field will become a reality. You are well prepared for your future and now it is up to you to use what you have learned to your own best advantage.

Richard D. Barker
Vice President-College Affairs

Dean Lyle J. Clevenger

Education is a lifetime process. Your education started when you were born and has continued on a formal and informal basis until now. We know that for some your experience at Graham will be the last of your formal learning. Others will transfer immediately to four-year institutions, and still others will seek full-time employment and continue to go to school on a part-time basis.

Over your lifetime, you will learn more outside of class than inside. Our hope is that your formal training will enable you to deal with the new situations you encounter.

We trust that during your stay at Graham your learning went far beyond that which comes from books. You had the opportunity to gain a knowledge of people and to become understanding of the rights, needs and beliefs of others.

We are confident that this awareness of your fellow man will guide you to even greater successes throughout your life.

Several times in the rock opera, Tommy, written and produced by The Who, Tommy pathetically pleads, "See me, feel me, touch me, heal me." If one listens carefully to our world and its sounds, he might possibly hear the same plea, except perhaps in different forms and under different circumstances.

One's education is designed to better equip him to sense the pulse of his world and to respond to that world; it gives the learner tools to either better the world or to further one's own selfish aims. To exploit the educational system solely for one's own benefits is to make a mockery of that system.

The ills of the world are graphic enough to anyone who cares to see or listen. Your education should enable you to listen better, and upon listening to know how to act more constructively. Use your education in this pursuit; only then can a genuinely peaceful world materialize. Listen to your world as it, like Tommy, pleads to be seen and healed.
