

GRAHM OPENS . . . STUDENTS COME BACK TO BOSTON

After what seemed like an unending summer of political upheaval, most of us were anxious to either enter or return to Boston, and Graham Jr. College. For Seniors, the square was washed clean by the September sun, and Freshman were full of anticipation — not wholly unwarded. Student Leaders had planned orientation, and it demonstrated the kinds of contrast that filled our daily lives.

Entertainments of the city countered escape to the countryside. Miles of lights glittered, and so did Walden Pond. The crowd roared at Fenway Park, and the sea roared for the Harbor Cruise. We were exposed to massive and complex groups, and emerged knowing personalities and friends. We listened to an endless barrage of academic facts, and absorbed a concentration of knowledge.

Contrasts will always exist. They are our futures, our experiences, our past. This city, and this school could never divorce each other. They exist mutually and make a hectic life tolerable.

"WCSB CAN BE A STEPPING STONE . . .

... to a career in radio." Dennis MacCarthy,
General Manager, WCSB-Radio.

WCSB went through many different formats during the past year. They started with a block format which consisted of a variety of different types of music and programming. Before the first semester was over however, the station had no real musical format, although the speaking done on the show was scripted. The second semester format was soon replaced by contemporary music and student productions. The highlights of the year were varied, covering everything from "Radio Crises," a spoof on the operation and problems of the station, through the covering of the shooting of a policeman during a robbery at Brigham's. WCSB scooped everyone else on the robbery-shooting and even telephoned the story into United Press International.

Other highlights included the coverage of the Chelsea fire and the ensuing press conferences with Gov. Sargent and Sens. Brooks and Kennedy; the robbery of an A & P food store in the Backbay section of Boston and the manhunt that followed; the Leavitt Hall arson fire and editorials on Leavitt Hall; an interview with school officials on the energy crisis; six live broadcasts of Grahm Hockey games and eight live broadcasts of Grahm Basketball games, including the playoffs; the intramural basketball All-Star game, playoffs, and championships; public affairs shows including "Sounding Board" which had an interview with Kenny Meyer, the producer of "The Larry Glick Talk Show," "Getting Caught Up," "Anthology," "The Trivia Show," and "Retrospect;" "B.S. In the Morning" calling all over the country to get live interviews with interesting people, including Mel Blanc, the voice of numerous cartoon characters, and George Peppard of "Banacek;" and highlights of "Communications Day, 1974."

The student management of WCSB consists of:

COMMUNICATIONS DAY ...

This year, Communication's Day attracted a wide range of people from the broadcasting industry. In addition to the local personalities from Boston television and radio, we had the opportunity to question some network personnel. From the Boston area, Danny Schecter and Maurice Lewis provided contrary but interesting opinions on news coverage and investigative reporting. The network representatives included Ms. Marion Stephenson, who provided some insight into becoming qualified for the positions which are now open in the industry. She and other network employees also expounded on the value of education in advancing one's position within the industry. Perhaps the most interesting aspect of the Communication's Day dialogue was the number of times that the opinions of our guests was the same as the advice and views given by many of the instructors at Graham Jr. College.

LIONS LAUNCH SECOND SEASON

TEAM HAS HOPE

The Gramh Jr. College Intercollegiate Football Team is still in the embryonic stage. This season's schedule included only one official game, and while our team demonstrated winning qualities, we lost to Lowell Tech, 28-0.

The enthusiasm of the players and coaches is fully matured, and based on this we predict many great victories next season.
